PREFACE

This report is a summary of selected information on transportation and infiltration activity in southeast Asia as reported by NPIC during the period indicated on the cover. Those lines of communication and associated facilities which support communist insurgency in Laos and South Vietnam are emphasized.

Items are numbered and arranged according to location from north to south. Annotated maps of varying scales have been included to assist the reader in locating the items. Each large-scale map depicts all motorable roads photographically confirmed by NPIC unless otherwise indicated.

Missions, mission dates, frames, and NPIC cable and briefing board references are listed after each item, as appropriate.

Military Facilities, Kep Area, North Vietnam

The Kep area of North Vietnam remains characterized by a variety of dispersed military facilities, although repeated airstrikes have caused a significant reduction in associated activity.

The revetted storage facilities concentrated in the Karst Hill area east of Route 1A currently exhibit a very low level of activity. Buildings are still being maintained in three areas (Items 14, 16, and 19 on map), but there is a limited usage of the access roads.

The large probable construction camp east of the Ha Noi/Ping-Hsiang Rail Line (Item 13) exhibits a similar reduction in activity. Since the apparent abandonment of the rail line realignment construction, a number of the buildings have fallen into disuse. Vehicle activity continues in the area however, and the remaining buildings probably serve a storage/bar-racks function.

Three of the four targeted POL storage areas are being dismantled, one as an obvious result of airstrikes (Items 6, 7, and 15). An additional area of buried POL tanks remains unchanged (Item 20), and two earth-covered probable POL tanks have been recently identified on top of a small knoll immediately east of the Route 1A/13A junction (Item 9).

The vehicle parks dispersed in the heavily vegetated hill area north of Kep continue to be extremely active. While some of these are definitely associated with the mining in that area, the largest (Item 4) probably supports the movement of vehicles along Route 1A.

A compilation of the active military facilities in the Kep area (excluding the airfield) follows. (Item numbers are keyed to map on the opposite page).

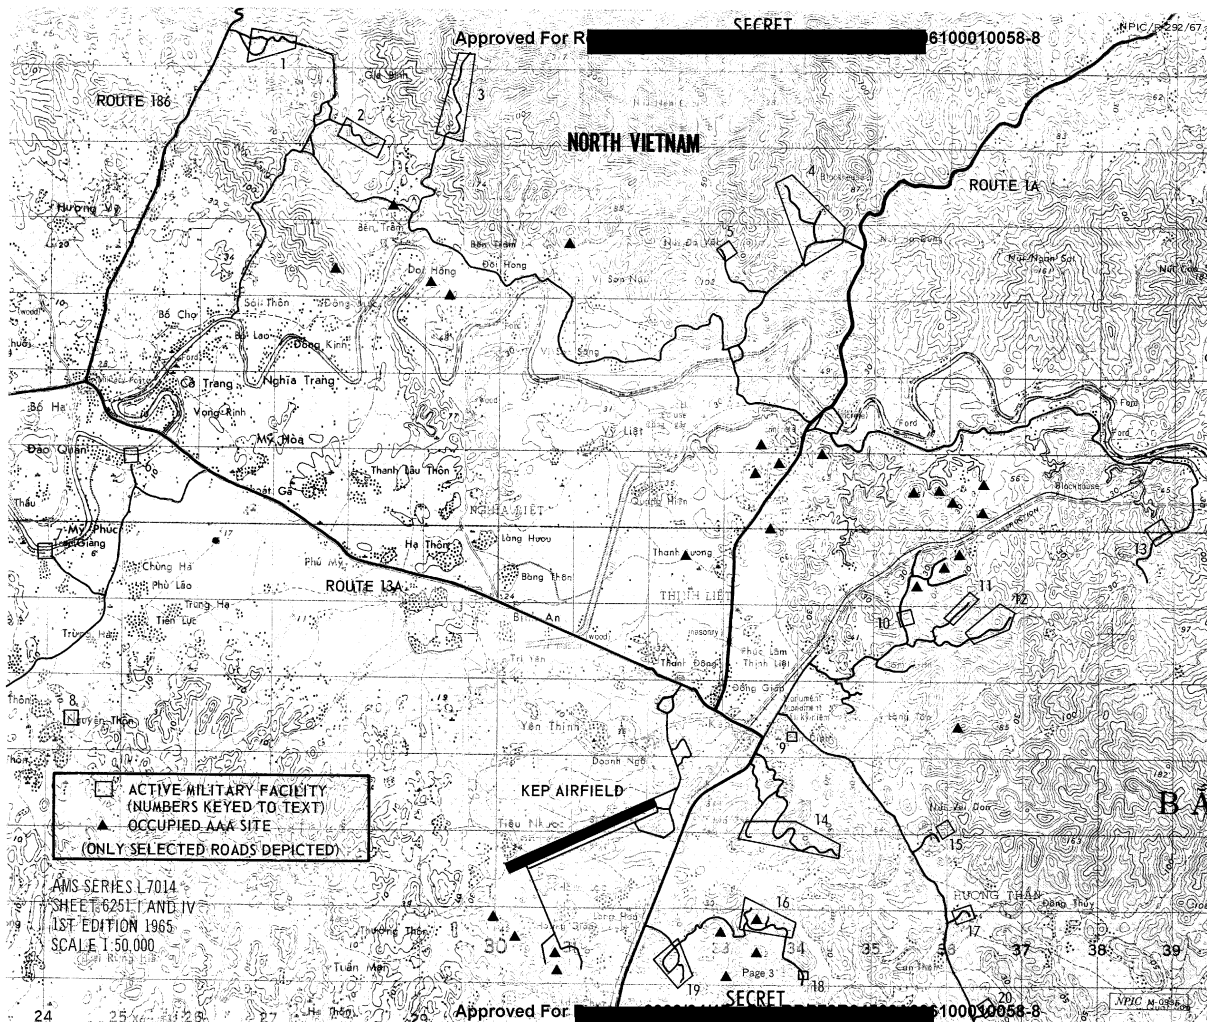

1. Vehicle Park: [REDACTED] at least 42 parking slots (Figure 1).
